

TOUCH

TEST

TINKER

EDspaces attendees want to touch, test and tinker with the innovative solutions you provide for the learning facility. This is the ultimate place to network and build relationships, create awareness and sell the latest products and services in the educational facility market.

"We attended our first EDspaces in 2023 and were so impressed by the quality of attendees that we immediately signed up for this year's event and doubled the size of our booth! We attend many of these type of events, and have found this one to be the best when trying to build relationships with key decisionmakers. EDspaces will be an event we look forward to yearly."

The premier event for educational environments, EDspaces, will be held in Houston, Texas, November 12-14, co-located with the AIA-CAE Fall Conference and the Campus Safety Conference @ EDspaces.

This Integrated event is the best place to connect with your target audience and show off your portfolio of products and services to buyers. It is your forum to speak with the leaders and experts in the marketplace, form strategic partnerships and secure new opportunities for profit.

EDspaces delivers the audiences you want to meet.

- Meet with the educational facility personnel who are driving buying decisions.
- Connect with the largest gathering of distribution focused on education products for the learning environment.
- Network with the architect and design community who are focused on the importance of improving learning environments.
